REFLECTION: The Feast of All Saints is a yearly reminder of our ultimate goal: Union with God through our search for holiness. It is important to recognise that no Saint was perfect – but they strove towards perfection and holiness. We are invited to do the same so that one day we “may be in that number, Oh when the Saints...”

CAFOD: POPE LEO XIV'S FIRST APOSTOLIC EXHORTATION - DILEXI TE:

Dilexi te means "I have loved you" and echoes the title of Pope Francis' last encyclical letter Dilexit Nos ("he loved us"), on the devotion to the Sacred Heart.

It is all about God's love for the most vulnerable and marginalised people in our society. This is affirmed with many examples from the scriptures, the saints and religious orders, as well as in the development of Catholic social teaching.

The document speaks of Jesus' identification with the hungry and the poor. We must be particularly attentive to those who are most marginalised in our society and listen to the wisdom that only they can offer. The Preferential Option for the poor is a key theme of Catholic Social Teaching, reminding us that those who are experiencing poverty are given special attention in God's eyes. We are therefore called to be true witnesses to Christian living in our treatment of those experiencing poverty or sickness, the imprisoned, uneducated and migrants.

Pope Leo mentions the need for us to raise our voices to call for an end to unjust structures and systems which keep people poor, even if others consider us foolish or naïve. He also speaks about the importance of almsgiving as a way for us to express this faith and make a concrete difference to our brothers and sisters who are experiencing poverty.

Catholic charities, in England and Wales have long exercised a Preferential Option for the poor. This exhortation is a timely reminder to renew our efforts to stand in solidarity, in word and deed, with the poor and marginalised. As we renew our efforts towards solidarity, may we hear afresh the words of Jesus, addressed to each and every one of us: "I have loved you." (Rev 3: 9)

How can you respond to Pope Leo? It's simple; follow CAFOD's message:

- DONATE
- PRAY
- CAMPAIGN
